Extending the family: inter-cultural issues in Britain

Call for Papers

A recent United Kingdom government discussion paper has highlighted changing family structures in response to shifting social norms, migration and cultural diversity. This conference seeks to unpack notions of 'family' and explore how changing family structures impact on inter-cultural psychotherapeutic work. The morning sessions will feature key-note speakers. The afternoon sessions will provide an opportunity for clinicians and researchers to share new or existing research and/or clinical interventions. We invite expressions of interest for papers and workshops sessions on any aspects of family, culture and psychotherapy and counselling.

Paper submissions

Papers need not be clinical in nature but should present findings that potentially inform clinical work. Abstracts (max: 500 words) should be submitted by June 19th, 2009

Workshop submissions

Workshops can address themes of interest to clinicians including clinically oriented research and/or innovative clinical interventions. Abstracts (max: 750 words) including learning objectives should be submitted by June 19th, 2009.
